

alchemy

Global centre of excellence for insurance software
implementation and professional services

Supporting the digitization of the global insurance industry

www.alchemytechs.com

Smart software implementation for an agile world

Alchemy Technology Services is a global centre of excellence for insurance software systems integration and associated professional services.

We have deep industry expertise and knowledge and deliver outstanding levels of consultancy to support the digitisation of the global insurance industry.

Straight talking software implementation

Focussing first on specific areas of need, we get to know our customers and understand how we best work together to deliver effectively into the future. Our relationships develop into lasting partnerships as trust grows in our delivery capability – influencing each other to get the best out of working together

Our honest and open approach with customers ensures that projects are delivered with no surprises, which is a significant contributor to building trust and a lasting relationship.

Core Services

We are a technology specialist who works with medium and large businesses in the insurance, financial and technology sectors.

Our point of difference is that we partner year-round with businesses to deliver their specific software and technology objectives through highly skilled consultants and analysts with the highest matched degrees of qualification.

From software implementation, BAU, consultancy and project management, our unique working culture and working model makes us the natural choice for progressive transformative organisations, SIs and technology companies.

A transparent relationship committed to success

We have deep industry expertise and knowledge and deliver outstanding levels of consultancy to support the digitisation of the global insurance industry.

Our relationships develop into lasting partnerships as trust grows in our delivery capability – influencing each other to get the best out of working together.

Our honest and open approach with customers ensures that projects are delivered with no surprises, which is a significant contributor to building trust and a lasting relationship.

Our people are our Gold

We offer access to a pool of skilled and experienced resources in the specialisms you need. With our flexible training model our people are professionally trained and these certifications are kept relevant and up to date.

Our business model includes the ability to carry a bench to rapidly respond to our clients changing needs.

Our well-rounded teams integrate seamlessly into any project, anywhere in the world. They will become part of the fabric of your organisation.

Our delivery leads, technical consultants, business analysts and testers have a track record of seamlessly integrating and partnering with insurers' internal teams and other system integrators.

alchemy

Global centre of excellence for insurance software
implementation and professional services

Supporting the digitization of the global insurance industry

www.alchemytechs.com

